Important Announcement

Dear Accepted QCOM Applicants,

Due to unforeseen delays at the federal level, Quillen College of Medicine cannot receive 2024-25 FAFSA information until mid-March which is very much later than expected. It may also help to remember that every other student who is preparing for the 2024-25 school year is in the same situation. Consequently, financial aid offers for prospective students is scheduled to be released around mid-April. Right now, we need our accepted applicants to complete their FAFSAs.

We understand the impact this delay is disconcerting and may have on your decision-making process, as you won't have access to crucial financial aid information. Please be assured that the QCOM Office of Financial Services is working hard to address this matter and is committed to providing timely and comprehensive updates about the financial aid process.

We appreciate your understanding and patience during this period of uncertainty and we are dedicated to supporting students throughout this process. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact our office. We are here to assist you.

Sincerely,
Quillen College of Medicine
Office of Financial Services
