

Figure 3. Percentage of Tennesseans who say colleges and universities are important in promoting personal growth and ensuring equal access, showing significant differences among respondents' identifying race.

